

From: wsmoore@horseracinginfo.com@inetgw
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/24/02 10:24am
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

Microsoft is doing nothing wrong but running an efficient and profitable business. Something most software companies that publish titles for the common household PC cannot accomplish. Therefore, they blame the largest marketshare holder as the reason instead of their substandard competitive offerings. The proposed settlement will do nothing to help those whom cannot compete with inferior development. The fact that alternate operating systems DO exist clearly prove no monopoly is present.

Steven Moore
U.S. Citizen